Integrated Management System P006

The company has developed an Integrated Management System which complies with the requirements of:

This ensures that the company has set objectives and targets, has a review process, has policies, procedures and internal management systems to ensure that it meets its customer requirement in a way that ensures the safety of its staff, customers and any who may be affected by its work with work planned to minimise, wherever possible, the impact of that work on the environment. This process is continually reviewed and improved by our own staff, customers and is formally audited biannually by BSI, our accredited body.

The company has developed systems for the planning and management of work and the detailed control of work activities to ensure the above is complied with at all levels of the company.

To do this the company has established:

Management processes through which work can be planned and organised

Means of managing risk and hazard through risk assessment, safety method statements and job safety analysis. This should ensure that when work commences, adequately trained personnel are employed, with the correct resources for the job and a method for completing the work that ensures risks have been reduced to an acceptable level and hazards eliminated through the job safety analysis

Procedures which set out how certain work activities are to be completed

Systems for measuring and reviewing performance, controlling and monitoring work, managing non- conformance and maintaining equipment and technical resources essential to the safe conduct of work
